

Latest on Donations

Our ambition for donations here depends largely on the goodwill of our visitors but it also partly depends on how well the books will be received when they're published.

My previous book, Tears in Paradise and a Smile in Hell, has not done well so far, but that was just the beginning. The latest book, Lyrics for the Warriors of Cancer, which was released on 14 August, offers a fresh opportunity.

I must also mention that my service provider has put this site together at their own expense.

With so much kindness, I'm optimistic that we will achieve our ambition of beating cancer.